

Lincoln, Neb., July 21.—In defending himself from an attack by Douglass county Democrats, who assailed him for bolting the gubernatorial candidacy of Mayor Dahlgren last November, William J. Bryan in the current issue of the Commoner fired the opening gun to prevent Governor Harmon of Ohio from securing the Democratic nomination for President in 1912. Bryan cited that the fact that Harmon bolted the Democratic national ticket in 1896 and used his influence to help elect McKinley.

SCHULTZ DRIVEN FROM SLAB IN THE FIFTH AND NEWARK WINS FIRST GAME

Zanesville Unable to Hit Hale Consecutively and First of Series Goes By Board—Newark Sluggers Register Fifteen Hits—Wratten Gets $50 Check for Long Hit.

Zanesville, July 21.—The Athletics lost yesterday the day following in off day as they nearly drove to score 9 to 2. Schultz was wild and ineffective and this fact caused his removal with two on bases and none out in the fifth. Loges was also hit hard and the Newarkites waded away with the long end of a 9 to 2 score. Hale the visiting leaver was touched for nine safe ones but kept them well scattered.

Wratten started the first for Zanesville with a single to left. By the way, Baves work at third was the only redeeming feature of Zanesville's play and he hit safely the first out run up although he ended the game by fanning. Following Wratten's single the hit-and-run was attempted but crowd or flew out to Cullahan. Live went to second on Halmers roller to Keith. Keith walked. Left started low and wide and ended with a long hit. A mess of the play Wratten and Hale and Farrell got out to first in safety. Zanesville's other run came in the eighth. Wratten singled to start it. Crowder got on by forcing Hale a second. Crowder to second and Halmers was safe at first on Murray's low throw of Gas ground. Farrell's infield hit filled the bases. Baves hit to Murray and Farrell was forced a second. Crowder scoring on the play. Heavily fouled out.

Newark got one in the third on single and double together with a bunt hit to first by Pagsdale that put the runner on the bean. Four clean hits and two sacrifices off the combined efforts of Schultz and Rogers netted the Molders four more in the fifth. Queisser's double to center with two on in the eighth was the cause of two tallies in that round. The final run for Newark came in the eighth as a result of singles by Murray Wicklan and Gray. guessing trying to hit them on the nose. His curves are of the round, nose type. It comes a side into a good advantage.

It looks as though Newark could strangle the Athletics with its put in Mike Craven in on account of his ability and speed. The little fellow is a good water too.

Hale was worked out of turn by Pendry. It was Baves turn yesterday so Peg will doubtless perform today. Heavily will probably be Rudy's selection.

Kihm is as good as out on first. It wasn't Dummis' holding that caused his drop from the Columbus roster. He'll go up again if he continues to swing the bat as he did yesterday. Two hits two walks and a sacrifice for the first one.

Swartling's double in the fifth hit the fence to the left of the ball. Cullahan swished his shoulder in a desperate attempt to cage it.

CINCINNATI WON'T RECALL WICKLAND

Cincinnati, O. July 21.—Dan Mackey, former star of the Holy Cross college and property of the Cincinnati club will not be brought back. President Herimann having authorized the Terre Haute club to give the player his unconditional release. Neither will Outfielder Wickland be brought back from Newark. Some one player will be selected from the Syracuse team in exchange for Catcher Faux, who sent there last spring.

PROPOSE NEW BALL LEAGUE

South Bend Ind., July 21.—A new central league to be composed of Ft. Wayne South Bend in Indiana Dayton and Springfield, in Ohio Grand Rapids Kalamazoo Saginaw and Jackson in Michigan is being agitated by baseball magnates in the several cities interested according to reports current in this city. One of the sponsors for the league is Malachi Kitt ridge the old National league club manager of the Saginaw South in Michigan League club.

The idea is to make the league compact and to have cities in the organization which would develop a natural rivalry which would make base ball profitable.

AGGIE GRANT WANTS $8,000 FOR HIS CLUB

South Bend Chamber of Commerce Refuses to Be Held up to Get Central League Team.

South Bend, Ind., July 21.—South Bend business men yesterday rejected the proposition to purchase a franchise of the Evansville baseball club of the Central League, declaring that the price $8,000, asked by A. A. Grant, owner of the club was exorbitant.

A deal between Grant and a committee of the local chamber of commerce has been pending for some time and a number of conferences were held but according to an announcement this afternoon the price his afternoon could not be met. The committee is considering offers on two other teams to replace the local club which has been transferred to Grand Rapids, Mich.

TY COBB HELPS BENEFIT FUND

Cleveland, July 21.—Ty Cobb, of the Detroit club sent his personal check for $100 yesterday to the Cleveland baseball club to purchase a box for next Monday's game here between the American League all-stars and the Cleveland team for the benefit of the family of the late Adie Joss pitcher. In his letter Cobb asked the club to keep his contribution secret.

TRIPLE PLAY UNASSISTED

Vernon, Player of California Coast League Makes Great Play in Game Wednesday.

Los Angeles, July 21.—Walter Carlisle, center fielder of the Vernon club of the Coast League made the sixth unassisted triple play recorded in organized baseball Wednesday against the Los Angeles team in a game won by Vernon 5 to 4.

In the sixth inning with the score tied, Moore and Metzger of Los Angeles walked. Pitcher Carson of Vernon was replaced by Stewart Akin, third baseman for Los Angeles but low over second base for what looked like a clean strike. Moore and Metzger both got off on a hit-and-run signal but Carlisle playing close in came forward like a flash and picked the ball off his shoe. His momentum carried him off his feet and when he recovered, both base runners, counting Akin's drive a sure safety, had passed the second station. Carlisle raced to second and touched the bag while Moore was well on the way to the plate, then trotted to first retiring Metzger. The unassisted triple plays on record are:

Paul Hines of Providence, at Providence, 1877.

Harry O'Hagan of Rochester, at Jersey City, 1902.

Louis Schuch of Portland, at Portland, Ore., 1904.

March of Manchester, at New Bedford, 1906.

Neat Ball of Cleveland, at Cleveland, 1909.

Walter Carlisle of Vernon, at Los Angeles, 1911.

OF FILLER ON MARKET.

Columbus, O. July 21.—Outfielder Dege of the Brewers who was sent to Zanesville Central League may be sold to Terre Haute by that club to cut down expenses. The board of directors held a meeting last night and decided the advisability of selling the filler to some other club. The Zanesville team although in second place is hard on the handful records.

SHORT SPORT

But be it from us to say the Cutlins never will lose. Some argue that the team that was from them but got (unanimously) to go some. C. Mithewson did in mission of last evening getting the hook. What has Mithewson to say for himself in today's game?

In addition to being the greatest ball player alive, Ty Cobb is both generous and honestly modest. He gave $500 to the Adie Joss benefit and distributed that his name was to remain secret. He had to be begged for permission to tell who the donor was.

Napoleon Atlas, Terry, Toledo, unknocked those stuffed, boulder muscles, apparently to lace out a single and one two runs. In three times up is a punch later. Empire has gotten only five hits. Jotten.

George Stovall this time literally hit the Naps to victory, driving the winning run himself. Addie to Mithewson's victory column.

The Tigers lost a game, by Cobb made an error. Another idea of a series not worth seeing. The one now in progress in St. Louis for the Carson championship.

It may be that Col. John F. Taylor of the speed way, is asking ways to see himself to see how popular he really is. With John F. out of the race, Western riders want have nothing to write humorous paragraphs about.

Suffering its. The Peds have won two games in succession. Post knucklers boast.

Even I like Collins presence in the lineup didn't suffice to take the Athletics to victory over the White Sox. Combs's fishing trip is postponed indefinitely.

Having lined up Eddie Grant, one of the best third basemen in the business, the Reds intend to swing time. Swensen of last year on all right.

Pittsburg took a double header from position. Which one did it nothing to brag about.

S.S.S. CURES OLD BLOOD DISEASES

Contagious Blood Poison is responsible for a great many old blood troubles, such as scrofulous aches, skin eruptions, catarrhal troubles, Rheumatism, ulcerating sores, etc. There is no such thing as ridding the system of these effects by killing the poisonous germs. Any medicine powerful enough to accomplish this would also destroy many of the delicate linings and tissues, and wreck the constitution. The only way to cure old blood troubles is to REMOVE the cause from the circulation, and for this purpose nothing is equal to S. S. S. It goes into the blood, and drives out every taint and poison, and makes this vital fluid pure, rich and nourishing. S. S. S. has long been known as the greatest of all blood purifiers and many thousands have rid themselves of old blood diseases by its use. It ALWAYS removes the impurity from the blood. Book on the blood and medical advice free to all. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

At the pretty country home of Mrs. Charles O'Hannon, the East Division of the Ladies' Aid of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed a picnic Thursday afternoon. A delicious luncheon was served on the lawn to the twenty members and two guests, Mrs. Simms and Mrs. Billingslea.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Maud Buxton of Johnstown and Mr. George Upham of Billings, Montana, in Columbus on Thursday evening. The ceremony was read in the Trinity Church of Columbus by the rector and was witnessed by only a few friends of the parties. They were unattended and the bride was gown in a handsome traveling suit.

Following the marriage a wedding dinner was served at the Southern Hotel to the following guests: Mrs. James E. Upham of Newark, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Upham of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Buxton of Granville, Mrs. Minnie Kerr of Granville, and Mrs. M. E. King of Pataksala.

Mr. and Mrs. Upham left at 9:50 for a trip around the lakes and will leave for Billings, Mont., by the way of Duluth. Mr. Upham is formerly of Newark and is the son of Mrs. James Upham of this city, while his bride is the daughter of the late Horton J. Buxton of Johnstown. The groom is now superintending the construction of a railroad in Montana.

The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club will be entertained on the club day of next week at the home of Mrs. Frank Bartholomew in North Fifth street.

An event fraught with much interest was the celebration of the forty-sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hunt at their home in Allen street on Wednesday evening. The home was beautifully arranged with a profusion of palms, ferns and potted plants.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt were married forty-six years ago, July 19, and of this union eight children were born all of whom were present at the celebration, the event presenting an unbroken family circle. The day was delightfully spent in an informal manner and at six o'clock a family dinner was served, covers being laid for twenty-four guests. The tables presented a beautiful appearance with their center clusters of flowers and a menu of several courses was served.

Later two group pictures were taken of the party and then the eldest son, Dallas B. Hunt of Newark, made a presentation speech, bestowing upon the bride and groom of forty-six years past a number of beautiful tokens from the children. Mr. O. E. Hunt then responded for himself and wife, dwelling upon the pleasure the anniversary had brought to them.

Those present from out of the city were: Mr. and Mrs. Orville F. Hunt of Streator, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hunt of Brazil, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. George I. Wagner and family of Mingo Junction, Ohio.

The Misses Edythe and Ethel Buckingham were visitors in Zanesville Thursday and witnessed the victory of the Newark baseball team at Athletic Park, and were guests in the evening of their friend, Miss Claire Gipson at a 6 o'clock dinner at the Hotel Clarendon.

The No Name Pedro club met at the home of Mrs. Ned Davis of South Third street, Tuesday afternoon. The souvenirs for the game were awarded Mrs. Charles Somers, Mrs. Rhoda Anderson, and Mrs. Frank Eberly consolation. The hostess was given a pretty hand painted plate.

A dainty luncheon was served the members and guests, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. I. A. Smith, Mrs. J. M. Janness. August 1 the club will meet with Mrs. Eberly of Cedar street.

Mrs. George Glausinger entertained the members of the Ladies' Diversion club at her home in Maple avenue on Thursday afternoon. Four tables of players participated in the game and the souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. J. A. Sharritt, Mrs. Wilton Downey and Mrs. J. B. Burch.

Luncheon was served the following guests: Mesdames Edward Woodward, W. L. Jackson, Nelson Vanatta, Milton Downey, Edwin Kelly, Guy Huffman, George Jones, C. C. Bowman, J. M. Johnson, J. B. Burch, Edward Nutter, Ben Balzer, Henry Wilkins, Clarence Johnson, Clark Cochran, Alfred Svinger, J. A. Sharritt.

The next meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Edward Woodward in East Main street.

DAVIS-WALKER

This wife is not alone in her complaint. The condition is a familiar one in many homes. If company comes, the husband will turn in and entertain the guests delightfully. He will hold up his end of the conversation, the evening through; or if out among friends, he is by no means the monosyllabic creature that he is when he and his wife are alone together.

Perhaps he is talked out with his wife. They may have thoroughly threshed all the subjects they have in common. Having heard his opinion on a certain subject a dozen times, she can no longer listen with that absorbed face that pleases a man. So he turns to a fresh audience that will express their delight at his views, and vote him a charming talker.

And when she gives utterance to what he already knows by heart, naturally he would rather read the baseball score, and grunt out acquiescence in what she says than vent his opinion for the fifth time.

Probably what this husband and wife need are new interests, something that will really waken each mentally. Gossip is not enough. It may satisfy a woman, but it doesn't in the long run satisfy a man. If there is some subject the husband is particularly interested in the wife might read up on it, so that she can have forceful, intelligent opinions. If there is nothing of this sort to mutually interest them, an occasional book or play that provokes discussion may wake him up to talk as entertainingly in the home as outside of it.

For that matter, the everyday affairs of the home can be the subject of enjoyable conversations, if approached in the right spirit. Small Dick's future and what he ought to do or be, from a study of his actions, is much jollier to talk about than the noise he makes. Human nature as displayed in maids can give rise to uproariously funny conversations.

Making conversation boring, and the wife who tries to force conversation upon her husband will probably not succeed. But if she throws down a gauntlet that wakes him up, and then keeps up her end either by being a good listener or a sparkling opponent, she will find he will talk as entertainingly to her as to any one. But she cannot expect a man when he comes home tired from business to sit down and talk as if he were at a conversation, and working for the first prize. There is a time to talk, and likewise must there be a good opponent in the game.

This is "CN Week"

CN is death to flies and mosquitos

Flies, mosquitos, roaches, moths, fleas, bugs, ants, etc. simply cannot exist where CN is used. The house cleaned at frequent intervals with a few drops of CN in the pail of water and the pouring of a strong CN solution in garbage pails, sinks, toilets and drains is a sure and speedy remedy.

CN takes the sting from the skeeter's bite

CN takes the sting from all insect bites—just paint the affected part with pure CN and allow it to dry, repeating in an hour if necessary. CN is fine for scurvy, prickly heat, chafing and skin eruptions. The affected part should be bathed in a solution of one teaspoonful of CN to a pint of water. For use on clothing, by all means use CN. A complete book of directions comes in every package showing the many uses of CN.

If there is nothing of this sort to mutually interest them, an occasional book or play that provokes discussion may wake him up to talk as entertainingly in the home as outside of it.

For that matter, the everyday affairs of the home can be the subject of enjoyable conversations, if approached in the right spirit. Small Dick's future and what he ought to do or be, from a study of his actions, is much jollier to talk about than the noise he makes. Human nature as displayed in maids can give rise to uproariously funny conversations.

Making conversation boring, and the wife who tries to force conversation upon her husband will probably not succeed. But if she throws down a gauntlet that wakes him up, and then keeps up her end either by being a good listener or a sparkling opponent, she will find he will talk as entertainingly to her as to any one. But she cannot expect a man when he comes home tired from business to sit down and talk as if he were at a conversation, and working for the first prize. There is a time to talk, and likewise must there be a good opponent in the game.

This is "CN Week"

CN is death to flies and mosquitos

Flies, mosquitos, roaches, moths, fleas, bugs, ants, etc. simply cannot exist where CN is used. The house cleaned at frequent intervals with a few drops of CN in the pail of water and the pouring of a strong CN solution in garbage pails, sinks, toilets and drains is a sure and speedy remedy.

CN takes the sting from the skeeter's bite

CN takes the sting from all insect bites—just paint the affected part with pure CN and allow it to dry, repeating in an hour if necessary. CN is fine for scurvy, prickly heat, chafing and skin eruptions. The affected part should be bathed in a solution of one teaspoonful of CN to a pint of water. For use on clothing, by all means use CN. A complete book of directions comes in every package showing the many uses of CN.

Sauteed Soft Shell Crabs—Wash the crabs thoroughly to free them from sand, lift up the flaps and remove the gills, candlelegs and intestines. Dry thoroughly on a towel, dust with salt and pepper and roll each in flour. Heat two or more tablespoonsful of butter in a frying pan, lay in the prepared crabs and saute on one side, then turn and cook on the other. Drain for a moment on unglazed paper and serve in a hot dish sprinkling them freely with finely chopped parsley.

Braised Lamb's Tongues—To braise lamb's tongues, drop them, after washing, in a kettle of salted water and simmer until tender. Drain, trim away the roots and remove the skin. Arrange in a shallow pan, pour over them equal parts of a good brown tomato sauce, cover closely and braise in a moderate oven for two hours.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

To Treat Seasickness.

A naval hospital ship surgeon has a remedy for seasickness—a concoction of lemon and ginger taken in the form of lemon soda and ginger ale, or a dash of seltzer may be added to a little lemon juice and Jamaica ginger.

The doctor's idea is that the lemon causes a greater secretion of the gastric juice and that the ginger serves as a stimulant, the need of which can be best appreciated by the victim. It is not pretended that it will prove effective for everybody. It should be taken in small doses as soon as trouble seems to be approaching, although it may be of some use at a well advanced stage.

Uninviting as the beverage may seem, it can be made after a little experimenting so that it is very agreeable. The lemon juice and ginger is not as palatable as the soda, but has been found to give better results.

ADVOCATE'S ANNOUNCEMENT

To Democratic Candidates

for City Offices at the Coming Primary

Election.

The Advocate will not publish any paid announcements of candidates for city offices at the primary elections to be held this year.

The paper deems it necessary to make this departure from what has been its lifelong custom in consequence of the unusual existing conditions at this time.

The names of worthy candidates will be printed in these columns from time to time as matters of news

only, but paid announcements will be excluded absolutely.

Taft Bureau Repudiated.

Once more the White House press bureau has been forced to back-track.

It was like this: Franklin A. Shotwell of Omaha, secretary of the Progresssive League of Nebraska, came to Washington, had a talk with the President, and was quoted by the White House press bureau as saying that Nebraska was strong "for Taft for renomination and re-election."

Now it happens that the league which

Mr. Shotwell was made to appear as speaking for, is "strong" against Taft instead of being for him. When the officials of the Nebraska organization heard of Shotwell's statement they promptly passed resolutions repudiating it, and wired them to Washington.

The fact is the real progressive Republicans stand as a unit against

Taft's renomination, and every indication is that if he secures the nomi-ination again they will permit him to go down in defeat. Then they will make an attempt to reorganize the Republican party.

The defense of the school book trust which former State School Commissioner Zeller made just before he retired from office brought forth a scathing rebuke from the East Liverpool Review, a Republican newspaper.

Says it in part: "The friends of ex-

School Commissioner Zeller are both surprised and chagrined that he should appear as the champion of the book trust, especially at a time when the people are trying to throw off the yoke of oppression which that organization has inflicted upon the body politic for so many years. Anyone who has been in touch with school matters in Ohio for a number of years past knows that the book trust has been robbing the people. It has accomplished this through a system of high-toned bribe-giving and graft-dispensing that extended to almost every community.

The trust always shows a vital interest in the personnel of local boards of education and mixes into the school board elections. After the election each and every member is complimented with a complete set of free text-books, and other efforts, equally questionable, are made to influence the members when it comes to selecting school books. Moreover, the trust never fails to take a hand in the election of superintendents and teachers and tries to land only those who will do its bidding. Reprisals are levied on those teachers and superintendents who refuse to do its will."

The way to become a successful

United States attorney general is first to have served your time as chief counsel for the corporate cultures. The official terms expired, there is no trouble about "coming back" with the old house.

The State Tax Commission, in its efforts to take some of the tax burden from the shoulders of farmers and small home owners, frequently flushes up covers of tax dodgers. These are the fellows who are responsible for the high tax rate and for the inequities that have prevailed in our tax system. The State Tax Commission recently increased the duplicate of a locality in Northern Ohio 40 per cent, and a property owner filed an injunction suit. In his petition for an injunction the man forgot to state that he increase merely brought his property up to its true value in money

as required by the constitution.

It needed a Democratic congress to show up the trusts. The Republicans naturally approved of their own handiwork, the natural product of high pro-

the employ of the steel trust to become first minister in the Taft administration and of course, would not permit it to run amuck in raids on trusts. Frank B. Kellogg was hired by Knox, when attorney general, to fight the trusts. The government paid him $20,000 for his services and the Democratic house committee has drawn out that while he was pretending to unearth trust devils for the people, he was drawing such sums as $15,000 now and then from the steel trust for services rendered.

GLORIOUS HAIR

To Possess it Every Woman Must

Get Rid of Dandruff.

Dandruff is caused by germs;

these germs dig into the roots of the

GRAND LODGE CLOSED WITH A EXHIBITION DRILL AND A FANCY MILITARY BALL

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, colored, which has been in session in Newark during the past three days, is now a thing of the past, and nothing but pleasant memories linger, nearly all the delegates having returned to their homes in different parts of the state.

After the parade Thursday afternoon the Knights and hundreds of friends repaired to Moundbuilders Park, where a meeting for the election of officers was held in the open field. The election resulted as follows: General, C. C. Caldwell of Columbus, was re-elected Brigadier-General of the First Brigade for the ensuing two years; Col. H. H. Hatcher of Springfield, succeeded himself as Colonel of the First regiment, and Col. Straubers of Chillicothe was elected Colonel of the Second Brigade.

Immediately following the election of officers occurred the prize drills, which were witnessed by hundreds of people. Participating in the drills were Company D of Springfield, Capt. A. V. H. of the First regiment; Company A, of Columbus, Capt. F. D. L. of Company C of Columbus, Capt. W. H. Wood, both Columbus companies being of the Second regiment, and Co. 1 of Zanesville, Captain H. Grayson, also of the Second regiment. Each company had the full number of men, 22, in rank, aside from the officers, making in all nearly one hundred men taking part in the drills, which were executed in a manner that excited the commendation of all who witnessed them.

The first prize, $80, and a handsome silk flag, were won by Co. D of Springfield.

The second prize, $60, was awarded to Co. A, of Springfield.

The third prize, $55, was awarded to Co. C of Columbus.

The fourth prize, $25, went to Co. 1 of Zanesville.

The dress parade and drill that had been advertised to take place on the Public Square at 6 o'clock in the evening was omitted, as it was impossible for all the men to be present and the companies were well tired out from the day's work.

A fitting climax to the most successful convention was the grand military ball held in A. I. C. hall in the evening, given for the benefit of the Uniform Rank. There was a large attendance and all had a most enjoyable time.

TELEGRAPHIC TIPS

New York: The stork visited James Croft's Pomeranian spaniel on the dock and custom's inspectors promptly assessed an import tax on the pups. Croft appealed and there is a new custom's tangle.

New York: Lieutenant of Police W. H. Nedwell arrested his wife on a charge of drunkenness. The court committed her to an asylum and ordered the police-husband to take her there.

New York: Forty-eight box constructors were born at the Bronx Zoo. Mrs. Anna Box Constructor had to put up a terrific fight as Papa Box Constructor desired to make a meal of the infants.

Youngstown: Edward Myers of North Lima dreamed that his mother had fallen into a well. He hurried to her room and found her missing. He then ran to the well where she was struggling in the water.

London: At a meeting of the Imperial cancer research fund board it was stated that no experimental laboratory progress had been made toward combating the scourge.

New York: "Girls, if you would be supple, healthy, wise, beautiful, put on the gloves and play uppers with your sisters," advises Laura Lydall Fay Bennett, girl boxer.

New York: J. Eads How, millionaire hobo, presiding at a meeting of the unemployed, declared he will ask the use of the United States Chamber for the convention of the unemployed next September.

Canaan, Conn.: Asked by his proud father in the presence of a noted visitor how old he was a Canaan four-year-old demoralized the parent with: "Four years and you know it; gee whiz. Don't ask me that again."

Chicago: Miss Barbara Ritter cannot understand why so much fuss is being made over her. She sees nothing unusual in her fifty years service as a maid in one family.

Chicago: Through the arrest of Mrs. Bertha Frank, many wives have been exonerated. Mrs. Frank not only searched her own husband's pockets but also those of many married men.

Chicago: Salvatore Marino of Nebraska stopped off here on his way to Italy. A stranger showed him how to wrap up his $180 so as to be sure to keep it. Police are looking for the stranger.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.: A burglar entered the bakery shop of W. C. Heckman at Nescopeck while the family was away on a picnic, and sold out the pies and cakes at reduced prices, pocketed the receipts and disappeared.

Sharon, Pa.: Mrs. Mary Romanski and Michael Fisher went to law over a hen. Magistrate Burnside ordered the hen freed half way between the neighbor's houses. The hen went into Mrs. Romanski's yard and she was declared the owner.

Chicago: July 21—What will probably be the hottest ten-round fight in the annals of the lightweights will take place in Milwaukee on Sept. 15, when Al Wolgast and Parker McFarland get together in what will be a preliminary to a full route on the Pacific coast later. For months McFarland, the best lightweight in the business, with the possible exception of Wolgast, has begged the champion for a fight, but could not meet Wolgast's demands.

Now, however, they have agreed to weigh in at 121 at 7 o'clock.

Portraits of $1,000 have been posted. In a few days Wolgast will post an additional $1,000 to bind a long match on the coast later.

McFarland must cover this sum, or the Milwaukee fight will fall through. The Stock Yards champion is itching for the chance.

For the Milwaukee fight, Wolgast

AUTO VICTIM IS EX-WIFE OF
STEEL MAGNATE

Chicago, July 21.—Mrs. Catherine Porter, 32, a domestic in the house of William P. Hobbs, who was killed last night as she stepped in front of a speeding automobile was identified this afternoon as the former Mrs. Catherine Edgar, divorced wife of Ed C. Edgar, St. Louis multi-millionaire steel magnate.

The identification reveals a story of a social leader who divorced from her husband and separated from her son, was too proud to beg aid of her wealthy relatives and so sought the menial work of a house maid.

Twenty-two years ago, Mrs. Edgar was the leader of the St. Louis smart set. She had worked in her present position for five years and always wore a heavy black veil when she went on the street to escape identification by her friends.

SAGE AND SULPHUR
CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair, and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How Five Children Were Bathed Very Much Too Much

"NOW, that was a splendid bath I had tonight," said Jack as, after daddy had given him a large glass of feed water and tucked in the mosquito netting, he sprawled luxuriously in his cool white crib.

"Good as that swimming hole you are always talking about, down in the creek?" asked daddy.

"Well," said Jack, who is a scrupulously honest little chap, "I can hardly say that, daddy, for we certainly have lots of fun down there, but you never get quite so clean as this, especially when the other fellows tie the knots in your clothes and you have to sit on a log and 'chaw' them out."

"Ha, ha," laughed daddy, "many's the time I had to do that. But you keep right on swimming all you like, no matter how much mud you get, and then take all the tub baths you like to get clean and cool again. I never in all my life heard but once of a bunch of children getting too many baths. Those children belonged to Dr. Hendrick. There were five of them and a large and obliging German servant who spoke almost no English.

"Well, one summer's day Mrs. Hendrick got word that her mother had been suddenly taken ill, so she packed up and started off, after phoning all the neighbors to keep an eye on Wilhelmina—that was the maid's name—and the precious babies.

"See those children playing in the garden mud," said Mrs. MacCracken about 10 o'clock. "I'll wager that new servant hasn't given them a morning bath. I'll just go over and fix them." So over she went, and, though the youngsters all bawled and tried to explain something, into the tub they went.

"At about 2 o'clock Mrs. Finney looked out of her window and saw the five making mud pies again and apparently as dirty as ever.

"Poor darlings!" she said. "I'm sure that girl never bathed them."

"So over she went, and, though the unfortunates tried to explain again, they all talked together, and Mrs. Finney couldn't understand a word, being too busy in scrubbing.

"When she finally went away with the air of one who has done her duty well the children went back to their pies, and there daddy found them.

"Come along, children," he said. "I'll give you a nice bath, and then we'll all have a lovely supper."

"And then the storm broke. The poor children squaled and squealed and kicked until the doctor, who luckily spoke German, called Wilhelmina and found that she had scrubbed them at 8 Mrs. MacCracken at 10 and Mrs. Finney at 2. Then instead of a bath they got ice cream."

Always with us.
 A king, a pope and a Kaiser
 And a queen—most fair was she—
 Went sailing, sailing, sailing,
 Over a sunny sea.
 And amid them sat a beggar,
 A churl of low degree,
 And they all went sailing, sailing,
 Over the sunny sea.

And the king said to the Kaiser
 And his comrade fair and free,
 "Let us turn adrift this beggar,
 This churl of low degree,
 For he taints the balmy odors
 That blow to you and me
 As we travel, sailing, sailing,
 Over the sunny sea."

"The ship is mine," said the beggar,
 That churl of low degree;
 "And we are all of us sailing, sailing."

To the grave, o'er the sunny sea.
 And you may not, and you cannot.

Get rid of mine or me;
 No, not for your crowns and scepters—
 My name is Death!" quoth he.

It contains no grease or acid, is cleanly to use and is a true food and nourishment for the skin, cleansing it in every pore, making it soft, white and beautiful.

If Hokara does not do even more than is claimed for it and give you great satisfaction, return the empty jar to W. A. Erman & Son and they will refund your money. If you have any skin trouble, you cannot spend 25c to better advantage than for a jar of this skin food. Larger size 50c.

The Dairy as a Temple.
 The people called the Todas, living in the Nigrit hills, India, have a curious religious ritual evolved out of the ordinary operations of the dairy. The priest is the dairymaid, and the temple is the dairy. Only the milk of the sacred buffalo is churned in the dairy temple. The milk of buffaloes that are not "sacred" is churned in the front part of the huts in which the people live. The dairy temples are of different degrees of sanctity, corresponding to the different degrees of sanctity of the buffaloes tended in each.

Even the vessels used in a dairy temple vary in sanctity, those that contain the milk being more sacred than those that only receive the products of the churning.

THE SCIENCE OF FARMING

MIXING CONCRETE ON THE FARM—No. III

UNDERGROUND cisterns may be built in any shape desired. For the same amount of concrete, round cisterns (with a depth equal to the diameter) will hold the most water. However, since round forms are not easy to frame, most cisterns are made square. To illustrate the usual method of building, consider the construction of a cistern 8 by 8 by 8 feet in the clear, with wall 8 inches thick and with a capacity of 121 barrels. Before beginning the work, have measuring the quantities, consider 1 bag of cement equal to 1 cubic foot. If gravel is to be used, proportion the concrete 1 part cement to 4 parts clean gravel. For the floor have the concrete just wet enough to flush a little cement mortar to the surface when tamped into place. See that there is an abundance of mortar around the concrete blocks supporting the forms. Immediately begin filling the side wall forms with concrete mixed muchy wet and placed in 8 to 10-inch layers around the entire cistern.

PUMP SET ON CONCRETE CISTERN PLATFORM.

all the materials on hand, slightly more than required. Locate the cistern in the most convenient place. Since the walls are 8 inches thick, lay out the hole 9 feet 4 inches square. The concrete bottom is 6 inches thick. Therefore, dig the pit to the depth of 8 feet 6 inches. Since the concrete cover or platform will be 5 inches thick, the top of the cistern will be 5 inches above the ground, which is a desirable feature. If the earth walls stand firm, only an inside form will be needed; otherwise make a similar form for the outside of the walls. This form should be built (each side separately) previous to digging the pit, so that it may be quickly erected and the cistern finished before a possible shower makes the hole muddy. For siding, use 1-inch boards on 2 by 4 inch uprights, spaced 2 feet. As soon as the hole is dug, set up the forms on 6-inch cubes or bricks of concrete, with 1-inch removable wedges between the forms and the bricks. The side wall forms will Be careful not to shovel the concrete against the earthen sides, as dirt in concrete is liable to make a leaky wall. Do not stop until the forms are filled. At the proper points insert an overflow, if desired, and a sewer pipe connection for the water from the down spout or the filter, and the pipe connection for the pump in the house. This pipe should be carried 3 to 4 feet under ground, out of danger of freezing. To keep out mice, vermin, scrub water or filth, every cistern should be covered with a concrete platform, reinforced with steel rods. After the concrete walls have been brought to ground level, set a wooden frame around the outside of the cistern so as to hold the concrete for the 6-inch platform. To run water off the finished cistern cover, slope this frame 1-inch in the direction desired. Five inches below the finished top of the cistern cover construct a strong wooden platform of 1-inch boards for flooring. Build this on 2 by 4 inch joists nailed to the uprights of the side forms. This platform where the opening to the cistern is desired. An iron manhole frame and cover can also be used. By a similar use of a section of a gas pipe or small drain tile, leave an opening for the pump stock, if an outdoor pump is to be used. Around this opening in the soft concrete place bolts (washed) for the pump. To locate the bolts correctly, set them by means of a wooden block in which holes have been bored spaced exactly like those in the iron pump base. Over the entire platform, spread 1 inch of concrete. For reinforcing quickly place on this concrete 10-foot lengths of 3/4-inch iron rods running in both directions (criss cross) and spaced 1 foot apart. Bend the ends to a hook shape. Strengthen the platform around the manhole opening by placing two rods on each side. Bring the cover to its full thickness by immediately tamping in the remaining 4 inches of concrete. Finish the surface with a wooden float (a trowel) the same as for sidewalks. If the tin form is used, the manhole cover may be cast at the same time as the remainder of the floor. Reinforce the cover with short length of iron rods laid criss-cross. As a lifting ring for the cover, use half of an old bridge bit or a hitching post ring, the end provided with a knob of twisted wire or with a nut and washer for holding it firmly in the concrete. If the wooden manhole frame is used, carefully remove it after five hours. After three days build the manhole cover the same as for the tin form, with this exception—place greased paper or cardboard around the edge of the opening to prevent the new concrete from sticking to that of the platform. To make the manhole cover light in weight, before placing the concrete, spread 1 1/2 inches of wet sand over the wooden platform in the manhole opening and then tamp in the concrete. Take care to place the reinforcing with 1 inch of the bottom of the manhole cover. When the cistern platform is two weeks old, remove the manhole cover and saw an opening in the wooden floor. Descend, knock out the 1-inch wedges under the side wall forms, take the forms apart and pass them out through the manhole opening. It is generally advisable to filter rain water. For this purpose provide a filter on the outside of the cistern proper. Construct this filter in the same way as the cistern was built except that the reinforced concrete cover should be loose so that it can be removed. Therefore, mold it on a smooth surface such as a wooden floor, and later put it in place. Make the concrete walls and bottom 6 inches and the cover 4 inches thick. Under most conditions a filter 2 feet square and 3 feet deep in the clear is large enough. Carry the walls a few inches above the surrounding ground. At the filter floor level connect the filter with the cistern by means of a 6 to 8 inch sewer pipe, or drain tile laid with carefully cemented mortar joints. Likewise, 1 foot from the top, lay a similar connection for the pipe leading to the down spout. Instead of using a square inside form for the filter, a barrel may be used. In the filter place a galvanized screen of 1/4-inch mesh over the pipe opening to the cistern. Fill in 18 inches of coarse charcoal. Cover the charcoal with 6 inches of sand and gravel. The slab cover on the filter, and the cistern is ready for use. Below is given the amount of materials required for the cistern and filter. Since the prices given are liberal, by getting quotations from local dealers, the cost of the cistern may be found to be less. The cost estimate is as follows:

Crushed rock, 11 cubic yards at $1.10 a yard.....	$12.10
Sand, 5 1/2 cubic yards at $1 a yard.....	5.50
Portland cement, 18 barrels at $2.50 a barrel.....	45.00
Reinforcement 1 3/4-inch by 10-foot rods, 93 pounds at 2 1/2¢ a pound....	2.10
Total	$64.70

No estimate of the labor is given, as the suburban or country dweller can easily build his own cistern with ordinary farm labor. Feeding floors are merely several sidewalks laid side by side, and the same general rules of construction apply to them. Choose a site in the lot where the ground is slightly sloping, well drained and wind protected and convenient to feed and water. Excavate to a depth of 12 inches for the drainage foundation, and around the outside edges of the entire floor dig a trench 12 inches wide and 18 inches deep. (This trench, filled with concrete, prevents hog wallows from undermining the floor and keeps the rats from nesting under it.) Fill all of this space (except the trench) to the natural ground level with well-tamped coarse gravel, crushed rock, tile culs or brickbats. This fills the drainage foundation as for sidewalks. The floor must be graded or sloped so that water will not collect on it in the winter and so that the manure washings may be caught by the gutters and run to the water-tight concrete manure pit. (To shape the gutter, make a mold or templet by rounding the corners on the flat side of a 6-foot length of 4 by 6-inch timber) a gentle slope, toward the low corner of 1/4 to 1/2 of an inch for each foot of length, or width, is sufficient. This is secured by the use of a heavy grade stake at each corner of the floor, a straight-edge or a grade line, and a spirit level. It is an advantage to have a feeding floor temporarily imbedding beveled blocks, or wooden frames in the soft concrete.

Below is given an itemized bill of materials necessary for a 6-inch floor 24 by 85 feet, amply large to accommodate fifty hogs.
Materials required:
Crushed rock or screened gravel, 30 cubic yards, at $1.10.....	$32.00
Sand, 10 cubic yards at $1.....	10.00
Portland cement, 28 barrels at $2.50....	70.00
Total	$102.00

HOGS CAN CLEAN UP THE CORN.

Mixing the concrete by hand, five men can usually finish this floor in two days. Prices of materials vary greatly in different localities. The figures given above are safe; but before deciding as to what your own floor will cost you, consult local dealers. Depending upon price of labor and materials and the thickness of the concrete, the floor will cost 6 to 12 cents for each square foot of surface. It is no uncommon sight in the spring and winter to see an earthen barn lot so deep with mud that animals go thirsty rather than attempt a trip to the water trough. The effect is had on all kinds of live stock, especially on fattening animals and dairy cattle. "Feeders" must have an abundance of water to fatten quickly. Insufficient water cuts down the quantity of milk given by dairy cows. Lack of enough exercise further decreases the yield. An occasional trip through this mud to the trough so cures the cows' udders with dirt that the milkier wastes lot muddier the following year. To keep up the fertility of the soil, all the manure produced on a farm should be saved and returned to the fields. A concrete barn yard makes a fine exercise lot in all kinds of weather and always affords a dry spot for the animal's bed. Every shower washes the surface clean and flushes the droppings into the manure pits. Concrete yards lighten the work of the housewife, as there is no mud to be tracked on the walks and kitchen floor. The use of rubber boots is unnecessary. On concrete floors not a particle of grain need be wasted. The way to the water trough is always dry, smooth and passable. Concrete floors promote and protect the health of farm animals and increase the profits of farming, stock raising and dairying. The construction of concrete barn yards is exactly like that of feeding floors, except that the work is on a larger scale. Often the entire lot is not paved in one season, but from year to year, as the farmer has time. In excavating for the drainage foundation, be careful to remove all manure and straw which may be tramped into the ground and which may be so solid as to resemble earth. In time any kind of manure decays, shrinks, causes the floor to settle and forms water and ice pockets on its surface. Dig the trench for the foundation apron as for feeding floors—there is no material so rat-proof as concrete. With the drainage foundation ready, set later support the platform on which the concrete cover will be built; and unless these wedges are used, the forms will bind and be difficult to remove. Join the forms at the corners so that they can be easily taken down after the cistern is finished. Against the earthen walls, and braced to the inside forms, set 1-inch boards, 12 inches wide, so as to prevent dirt from crumbling and falling into the cistern. Mix the concrete 1 part Portland cement to 2 parts sand to 4 parts crushed rock. In wooden platform will support the concrete cover until it is self-sustaining. To provide for a manhole opening take 1-inch boards 6 inches wide and build a bottomless box 5 inches deep, 2 feet square at the top and 18 inches square at the bottom—outside measurements. Another plan is to have the tin-smith make a round bottomless tin form 5 inches deep, 2 feet in diameter at the top and 18 inches at the bottom, after the pattern of a large dish pan without a bottom. Grease the manhole frame and set it on the

its full thickness above ground. Make light floors 4 inches and floors subject to heavy loads 6 inches thick. For the forms use 2-inch lumber of a width equal to the floor thickness. Begin on a low side of the floor. Mark the grade height of each corner stake and set the forms to a grade cord stretched from stake to stake. Use only good materials and mix the concrete 1 part Portland cement to 2 1/4 parts sand to 5 parts screened gravel or crushed rock, or 1 part Portland cement to 5 parts bank-run gravel. Measure the materials exactly; count 1 sack of cement equal to 1 cubic foot. Always begin placing the concrete on the low side of the floor, so that the rain from sudden showers will not run from the hard onto the newly placed concrete. Fill the trench and the slab section of the forms with concrete. Bring the surface to grade by drawing over it a straight edge with its ends on the opposite forms, or with one end on the form and the other on the finished concrete. Four inches in from the edge, on each of the low sides, temporarily imbed the rounded 4 by 6 inch gutter mold and tamp it down until its square top is even with the surface of the slab section of the floor. Remove the mold and finish the surface with a wooden float. The day after the concrete in each section is placed, carefully throw on a covering of hay or straw, and keep it thoroughly wet for a week. Connect the gutters with the manure pit by means of a trough, another gutter, or by large drain tile laid underground. (See later article on "Manure Pits and Cisterns.") If concrete feeding troughs and racks are to be built at some future time, make the necessary mortises by valuable time in washing them—and they must be washed, if one would have clean, wholesome milk. Continual tracking through the mud not only makes more currying, but often produces that irritation on horses' legs known as "scratches." Suddenly frozen, such an earthen lot is so rough that it is impassable. Moreover, the old barn yard—with its surface worked up year after year—becomes a storage place, which carries over the disease germs from one season to another. The "droppings" are entirely lost and, mixed with the earth, tend to make the

the forms in the same manner as for a sidewalk. Even if the whole lot is not to be paved at one time, plan the grading for the entire barn yard so that the completed pavement may have perfect surface drainage. Build and cure the pavement and make provision for saving the manure the same as for concrete feeding floors. Do not be too particular about giving the surface a smooth finish—a rougher finish affords the animals a better footing. The cost per square foot is no more than that of feeding floors—the investment yields even a greater profit.

WHITE GRUB IN LAWN

BY F. L. WASHBURN,
Division of Entomology, University Farm, Minnesota.

SO FAR we have had no complaint, this season, of white grubs working in lawns, but we have seen and caught a large number of brown May beetles or June bugs, which lay eggs in the grass, which produce the white grubs, so that, even if we do not have complaints this year, we are very likely to next summer. It takes two years or more for these white grubs to reach maturity from the egg. In the first season they are so very small that the effect of their work is not noticeable, but the second year after the eggs laid we are apt to receive dozens of complaints from citizens. There are several ways of combating this injurious insect which not only attacks lawns but also the roots of strawberries and other plants, and this division is earnestly seeking for even better means of control, if it is possible to obtain such. Copious watering of the lawn, where possible, will sometimes keep the grass ahead of the ravages of this grub. The robins too, seek out and devour these, to them, delicious morsels. An entomological friend—a practical man—claims that he has got rid of them by putting tobacco stems thickly on affected parts of the lawn, allowing rain to leach them, as it were, and take the tobacco solution into the soil. Of course, water from a sprinkler, where possible to obtain, would take the place of rain in a rainless season. We have caught with lantern traps this season a large number of mature June beetles or "June bugs," and eggs have been laid after females were very good thing, used early in the season, and may attract females before the period of egg laying. At Lakewood cemetery, Minneapolis, following our suggestion, they have used lantern traps made by placing lighted lanterns over tubs, and in each tub a little water covered with kerosene—which latter is deadly to all insect life—and caught hundreds of these brown beetles. Of course, the effect of this wholesale slaughter of the brown beetle would not be seen on the lawn the summer the lantern traps were used, for the grubs doing injury at that time came from eggs laid a year or so before. It is possible that some apparatus may be devised for piercing the grubs as they lie, an inch or so below the surface of the ground—some kind of "pounder," filled with spikes closely set together, might be used with success, where the sod has begun to show brown.

ARTIFICIAL DRAINAGE

THE methods of artificial drainage are divided into two classes, viz.: open ditches and covered conduits or underdrains. Each class is often used separately, but it is frequently found necessary to combine the two, particularly when large areas are drained or where ravines or creeks are not at hand to offer an outlet to the underdrains. Although the original cost is greater, good underdrains should be installed in preference to open ditches, for the following reasons: Open ditches, if the current is slow, fill up in a few years. They also occupy a considerable area in the field and are always in the way.

Through many years of experimentation the have proven to be the best kind of underdrains. In the northwest, however, they are far too expensive at present. The best substitute that can be made for them is the triangular box drain, made of undressed pine.—O. M. Osborne, Assistant Agronomist, Idaho Experiment Station.

VALUE OF GOOD ROADS

THE value of farming land depends very largely on the distance from a market. A good road has the effect of shortening the time required for carrying a load of produce to market, which is practically the same thing as shortening the distance. Howard H. Gross, in the Two Harbors, Minn., News, relates the story of a hard-headed German farmer at Sheboygan, who in a very graphic and comprehensive way, told of the value of good roads as it appeared to him. He said: "My farm is ten miles from market. If it was only five miles from market, it would be worth $15 an acre more. I cannot move my farm in, but if we can build a good road to my farm I can come in the ten miles with my produce easier than I could come in five miles to town."

BUILDING OF ROADS

BY R. M. DOHRE,
Assistant Professor of Agricultural Engineering,
North Dakota, Agricultural College.

THE farmer has a right, both moral and legal, to receive state and national aid in the building of his roads. He already pays an unjust proportion of the taxes. His property is largely of such a nature that he can neither hide it nor conceal its value and when the assessor comes around it has to be said even the pigs squeal as though determined not to be overlooked. On the other hand, it is a well-known fact that a large percentage of city and corporation property escapes from public improvements out of proportion to the amount of taxes they pay? Look at Fargo, for example, with the agricultural college, the state fair, the Cass county courthouse, the federal building and many other buildings and improvements from which the city secures revenue vastly greater than the taxes paid by its citizens for the support of these institutions and improvements. Being recipients of these special privileges, why should they not in turn, by a system of state aid, help the farmers build adequate roads which would be of great and lasting benefit to the city as well as the country?

The national government has expended millions upon the improvement of harbors, rivers, canals and other waterways; it has given millions upon millions of dollars worth of land to private corporations for the building of railroads, but it has been conspicuously parsimonious in aiding the building of public highways. The result is that we have the finest steamships, the best harbors and the most efficient railroad service in the world, but our public roads are incomparably poorer than those of the least civilized country of Europe. The state is taxing its entire population for the support of educational institutions that are of direct benefit only to the few who take advantage of these schools and yet we all admit that the state is more than justified in making this expenditure. The expenditure of money secured through country, state and national aid for the improvement of our country roads is equally justifiable and can be defended: First—On the ground of justice to the people in the country who are not receiving their full share of benefits from the expenditure of most public money.

Second—Because it would effect a reduction of 10 per cent in the cost of living and otherwise benefit people who do not live in the country.

Third—The future of the country demands that the comforts of country life shall, as far as possible, equal those of city life.

It is sometimes thought that the building and maintaining of good roads will necessitate the expenditure of vast sums of money, but such is not the case. It is not a question of any new expenditure. The expenditure is being made now. It is a question, not of throwing money away, but of saving the incalculable loss that the country yearly sustains through the low efficiency of its roads and of increasing the value of farm property by making markets more easily accessible. Everyone will readily agree with the statement that good roads would greatly increase the market value of farm lands. If this were not so, then why do farmers near towns where the roads are not good, invariably sell at a much higher price than those at a distance? Good roads would tend to equalize this difference and I believe that uniformly good roads would increase the value of farm land by an average of at least $1 an acre throughout the entire farming section of our state.

The profit from a farm, as well as from every other line of business, is the difference between the cost of production and the selling price. If the cost of marketing is too great to leave a fair margin of profit, the land will command a meager price and its cultivation will be unprofitable regardless of its fertility. In some parts of our country, timber is considered an incumbrance on the land, potatoes rot in the ground and fruit on the trees, while in other sections these commodities are so high priced as to be beyond the reach of most people, and all because the cost of transportation does not permit the producer to transport them to the markets at a price which the consumer can pay. The question of roads is, therefore, a vital one and is of practical importance as the only way of reducing the cost of reaching the market and thus increasing the profits.

FOR THE LITTLE PIGS

THE little pig loves the sunshine and needs it more as much as he needs food. No piggy is fit for the purpose unless it admits direct sunshine onto the floor of every pen at the time the pigs are farrowed, furnishes plenty of fresh air and provides for exercise in the open air. Dryness, sunshine, warmth, fresh air, freedom from drafts, and exercise are of primary importance in raising pigs. These secured, the battle is half won. In putting up buildings to six requirements just mentioned must be kept constantly in mind; not one can be neglected.

ELKS OUTING THURSDAY WAS FINE AFFAIR

The third outing of the Elks was held Thursday at Beach Island and was by far one of the best ever given by the popular antlered herd. A special car left the interurban station at 9 o'clock and during the day other members called at the popular resort until about 175 had registered.

A luncheon was served from 10 a. m. until 1.30 p. m. and at 2 o'clock Joseph Kuster Jr. announced dinner. The genial caterer surpassed all previous efforts and the affair of yesterday will long be remembered by those who were fortunate in being present. The principal feature of the dinner was the young broilers done to a turn. 200 of them being stacked up like cold wood and there were plenty left for a late luncheon in the evening. The menu was as follows:

Genuine Turtle Soup
Boiled Sea Bass
Broiled Spring Chicken
Hollandaise Sauce
Creamed New Potatoes
Corn on Cob, New Peas, Tomato Salad
Chilled Watermelon
Coffee
Ice Tea
Butter Milk
Elks Milk
Clear

The committee in charge spared neither time nor money to make the affair the biggest and best of the season and they certainly succeeded. The program of events was a hummer and the first number was a humor and who found a ten dollar gold piece at the top. Horace Smith captured the green-eyed prize, but here was some dispute over ownership, as Col. Bush Seargent, who owned it at the same time. The matter was settled by Mr. Smith agreeing to have it served at a luncheon at the club room in the near future. The sack race was won by John Brennan, who far outdistanced the other competitors. The three-legged race was won by Tyrus Cobb Atherton

THE LAST DAY Tomorrow The Last Day Of Our ALTERATION SALE

Brings to a close a sale that has been successful in every way, successful for you because of the great opportunity it presented to buy the most seasonable merchandise at such extremely low prices, successful for us because the public at large believed in our advertisements, and were not disappointed in the least. In our effort to quote the lowest prices we never forget that quality is the greatest factor in good values. Every item mentioned today is thoroughly reliable although the prices are surprisingly low. Be among the crowds that will shop here tomorrow. It pays.

JOHN E. PARSONS A WITNESS IN THE SUGAR PROBE

New York, July 21.—John E. Parsons, for many years counsel for the sugar trust and a pillar of a conspicuous man Herbert Parsons, has been subpoenaed to testify before the congressional committee now investigating the operations of the sugar combine. Chairman Hardwick of the committee will endeavor through cross examination of Mr. Parsons to show that the combine has been working to restrain trade and kill competition in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

cowboy in his native colony is becoming almost obsolete.
The automobile has come to enter largely into the tests of daring which amuse is thrilling. Perhaps the most exciting, for both performer and spectators, is the "death-defying head-on collision." The variation of the traction of an inch at almost any point in the giddy d. a around the track would give the man a most dangerous jolt.
"Daredevil Linigiers" slide for life supplies enough thrills for half a dozen shows. This thrilling performance demonstrate the fact that the man who works the longest does not get the most money. His actual work covers twelve seconds a day, six seconds at a performance. For this work of twelve seconds a day he receives $16. The law of supply and demand is responsible for the exalted figure of this one act. Public interest is appeased by this thrilling performance, and John Robinson pays the bill. This new act is a marvelous performance, daring in the extreme and nothing like it has ever been conceived and executed.
In spite of the annual and sometimes more frequent occurrence of "circus day," the majority of the people of this city are always ready to welcome the white tents and red wagons. Now that the date fixed for the appearance of the John Robinson Shows is almost here, the interest is becoming acute and thousands are planning to visit the show. The big show comes to Newark next Monday.

BIG SHOW IS NEARLY HERE

Two great events which never grow old, but are constantly being repeated from year to year—the opening of spring and the return of the circus. Surely life, which to the pessimist has seemed sad during the cold, long days of the winter, is now worth living. The John Robinson show is a circus by itself, a class of its own and one that you will enjoy. The show is a combined circus, trained animals, hippodrome, wild west and horse fair, the whole forming a lavishly opulent exhibit, with tents and all paraphernalia new, just brought out regardless of expense. Space forbids a detailed schedule of the many scores of attractions with these unparalleled shows. The wonderfully educated hippodrome elephants, the performing lions on horseback, the "death-defying" act and many new sensational features.
That John Robinson endeavors to always give more than the money's worth is fully illustrated in the addition to the big show this season of an entire wild west contingent. This additional feature is seldom mentioned or even alluded to, and yet it is one of the most interesting educational features that could be offered, as the

THE SMALLEST HALF-YEAR OUTPUT.

Entailment of blast furnace output continued in June, according to the figures received from the various stacks of the country. But the entailment was not so great as appeared possible some days ago. Yet the half year ends with a smaller total production of coke and anthracite pig iron than any half year since the first half of 1909. The output in the first half of 1909 was 10,820,672 tons, while that for the first half of 1911 was 11,111,165 tons. The second half of 1909 produced 11,516,330 tons; the first half of 1910 produced 11,533,419 tons, while that for the first half of 1911 was 11,111,165 tons. The second half of 1909 produced 12,686,865 tons, which was 675,169 tons more than did the first year just passed.

The total output of coke and anthracite pig iron in June was 1,781,106 tons, compared with 1,871,388 tons in May, a loss of 90,982 tons in June, although it must be remembered that June had one less working day than May. The daily average production in June was 59,360 tons, compared with 60,367 tons in May, a loss in June of 987 tons. The merchant furnaces produced in June 176,193 tons, compared with 178,788 tons in May, a loss in June of 2,595 tons. The non-merchant or steel plant furnaces produced in June 1,276,228 tons, compared with 1,276,276 tons in May, a loss in June of 40,008 tons. The number of stacks active on the last day of June was 202, compared with 206 on the last day of May, a net loss of four from the active list in June. In June states a net total of six stacks was relighted in June; New York and Illinois, two each, and Virginia and Kentucky, one each. In four other states a net total of 10 stacks was blown out; Ohio 7, Pennsylvania, Alabama and Tennessee one each. Further analysis of the situation shows that of the merchant furnaces in June 5 were relighted, while 8 were blown out, making a net total of 3 merchant furnaces blown out. Of the non-merchant or steel plant furnaces, 6 were relighted in June while 7 were blown out, making a net total of 1 blown out. In all, 11 furnaces were relighted during June, while 15 were blown out.

The production of spiegel in June was 19,111 tons, compared with 19,033 tons in May, a gain in June of 78 tons. The output of ferro in June was 9,534 tons compared with 12,271 tons in May, a loss in June of 2,737 tons. The Iron Trade Review.

PURITY

One night recently Bryce Jones and two sisters, Susie and Myrtle, were returning from the tent meeting at St. Louisville, and in trying to drive around a curve, ahead, he drove off the end of a small bridge and his buggy upset. The girls were thrown under the bridge, but aside from some slight bruises and soiled clothing, were uninjured. The buggy was wrecked, but with the aid of passers-by they were enabled to get home.

THE RED CROSS TEACHES THE BOY SCOUTS FIRST AID

The Boy Scouts of America are receiving practical instruction in First Aid to the Injured under the direction of the American Red Cross Society. While the Scouts in different towns have been taught by local doctors something about the uses of bandages in emergency surgical cases, and what to do for fainting and similar cases, there is being carried out now a systematic instruction of the Boy Scouts. The Red Cross Society has entered enthusiastically into the suggestion of the leaders of the scout movement to train the boys in First Aid work. Throughout the West much work already has been accomplished and glowing reports have been received as to the successful training of the boys.

The American Red Cross Society is accustomed to send a corps of surgeons, physicians and nurses in a car throughout the country. This car stops in various towns along the railroad over which it travels, and the doctors give practical lectures. Under the arrangement made at the suggestion of the Boy Scouts of America, troops of Boy Scouts meet the car at each town and the boys receive several hours of training. In many instances the Scouts have trapped mice to meet the car and to get this valuable training. The boys everywhere have been eager for the instruction. Dr. M. J. Shultz, who is in charge of the Red Cross car traveling throughout the West and South, writes to the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America that he is greatly pleased with the success of his work among the Scouts.

"At Austin, Texas," he writes, "we gave two meetings to the Scouts. The local command and the Temple Scouts who were on a hike." At San Antonio we had a splendid meeting and had a Mr. Butler, Scout Master from Floresville, who spent the whole day with us learning first aid. I will meet a detail here but the majority of the Scouts are away at camp. The Scout Masters and the Scouts are very appreciative and compliment the Red Cross and myself on the practical way that we explain first aid to them."

The Red Cross car is scheduled to make a trip of 90,000 miles in one year. It is being hauled free by the different railroads as the value of such training is appreciated thoroughly.

COMPLIMENTS NEW GRANVILLE SUPERINTENDENT

McConnellsville Herald Says His Place Will be Hard to Fill—News of old College Town.

Granville, July 21—Superintendent George M. Strong of the Malta schools has been elected to the superintendency of the Granville public schools at quite an advance in salary over that of the present position, says the McConnellsville Herald. Superintendent Strong's work in the Malta schools has been such that he will leave with the highest regard of school board, teachers and the patrons of the school. His acceptance of the position affords him not only a decided advantage in salary over what the Malta position offers, but places him in line for surer and sooner advancement.

Under Superintendent Strong the Malta schools have progressed toward a higher ideal of scholarship and attainment along all lines. There has been instilled into the high school classes an ambition for more advanced work than that offered by the high school curriculum and in the three phases of the ideal, of practical work, of discipline. Mr. Strong's place will be hard to fill. His many friends hope for him best success in the Granville position.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Tresize left Thursday for a visit among friends in Springfield, Dayton and Petersburg, Ind. From Petersburg they will go to Akron where they will make a visit with their daughter, Mrs. Christy, and other relatives and will return to Granville about the 20th of August.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Martin and little daughter, Mary, who have been visiting relatives and friends in Granville and vicinity for some time, have returned to their home in Franklin county.

Miss Bender has rented her furnished rooms in her flat on South Prospect street to Mr. Ben Woodberry, who will occupy them from August 1st to November. She has also rented the flat formerly occupied by Prof. See to Mr. Walter J. Livingston, director of physical culture in Denison. Mrs. Ransley will leave about the first of August for Cincinnati, where she will remain for an indefinite time.

Miss Nellie Smith, a charming and accomplished young woman of Pickerington, O. who has been visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity during the past two weeks, left for home Friday morning.

Dr. C. J. Rose and daughter, Miss Marion, and Mrs. M. G. Street and daughter will occupy Fred Buxton's cottage at Summerland Beach during the assembly.

Miss Helen Hunt has accepted a position in the Bowling Green high school.

Miss Margaret McKibben has gone to Northport, Mich., where she will spend the remainder of her vacation.

The recent rains have greatly revived vegetation in this vicinity, though the ground could stand a great deal more rain. One of the greatest benefits of the late rains, while they were not copious, was to the roasting ears which were suffering greatly from the drought. The rain did a great deal of good to the corn, and now we may expect some fine roasting ears to come to market.

Miss Kate Richardson, an accomplished young woman of Lexington, O., who has been visiting at the home of David E. Williams, north of the village, for the past two or three weeks, returned home Friday.

Prof. C. E. Goodell has moved from Mrs. Dixon's property on West Maple street to the Frank Reese house, corner of College and Granger streets, recently occupied by Mrs. Houghham.

At a parish meeting held in the Guild Hall of St. Luke's church, Granville, Tuesday evening, July 18, the following expression of grief and sympathy was adopted by a unanimous vote:

"The Rector, vestry and congregation of St. Luke's church, Granville, have received with feelings of profound regret the news of the sudden death of Watson L. King, M. D., at his old home in England, July 2. In common with all who knew him, we recall his genial courteous manner, his scholarly bearing and his fine professional ability. As members of St. Luke's parish we specially recall his devotion to the church's interests through a series of years as Senior Warden and treasurer. We desire to convey to his sorrowing relatives our sincere sympathy in their great bereavement."

FLESH-FORMING FOOD.

When you buy a package of Samose, the great flesh-forming food, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use. W. A. Erman & Son will tell of many of their customers who a month or so ago were thin, pale and haggard, but who are now, through the use of Samose, plump, strong and happy, with perfect health and attractive flesh. They have seen so many instances of the wonderful power of Samose to restore the weak and sick to strength and health, and to make good natural flesh that they give their personal guarantee with every package of Samose they sell to refund the money if it does not prove satisfactory.

Samose is a pure preparation and can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak and run down and without appetite. It builds up the thin, pale, puny girl and woman to perfect plumpness and health. It is the only flesh-forming food of its kind, and in addition, it strengthens every organ of the body, restoring strength and health to the whole system.

HOT-WEATHER DYSPEPSIA

It is a well known fact that it is harder to digest cold food than warm food, and as most of the food eaten in hot weather is cold, a great amount of digestive suffering results. It is well to be careful about what you eat in hot weather, and not to over-eat, but it is more important still if you are suffering from indigestion to have it cured promptly. It is hard enough at best to hear up under terrible heat, but when the stomach is loaded with food it cannot digest and the bowels are clogged with decaying matter, the whole system becomes congested. You become subject to headaches, colds, fever, constipation and a dozen and one ailments that make life a burden. Take a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will find immediate relief and in a short time a permanent cure. It will cleanse the stomach and bowels and give your system a new start. Appetite, good spirit, sound sleep and energy will soon return and your dyspepsia will have vanished. The cost is only 50 cents or $1.00 a bottle, and there is sufficient for you and your family. A TRIAL BOTTLE FREE OF CHARGE can be had by writing to

PARTICULARS OF ACCIDENT TO SEN. HAAS

The following from the Delphos Herald relates to the accident which recently happened to State Senator W. E. Haas.

W. E. Haas, state senator from the Delaware district, who is traveling in this section as a cigar salesman, met with an accident on the road between Venedocia and Delphos late Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Haas completed his work in this city and hired a horse and buggy at Kundert Bros. barn to visit Venedocia.

Returning to Delphos about 4:30 p. m., as he neared a turn in the road, Senator Haas saw an automobile coming. He states that he drove as far to the right as the roadway would permit there being a deep ditch to his right, and that the automobile struck the buggy and threw the driver, horse and vehicle into the ditch.

As Mr. Haas crawled out of the wreckage, he says he saw one of the occupants of the automobile removing the number from the machine. The buggy was somewhat damaged, the horse injured, and Mr. Haas received severe bruises. The senator hopes to be able to establish the identity of the owner of the machine, and bring him to account for his reckless driving.

B. L. YACHT CLUB BOAT IS WINNER

Toledo, O., July 21.—For the first time in the history of the Inter-lake Yachting Association "other sports" proved a big feature of the annual regatta at Put-in-Bay yesterday. The entire day was given over to picnic events. No official races of the regatta were sailed.

Mrs. George King, wife of the skipper of Old Sam, Commodore S. O. Richardson's boat, winner of the Taft cup, sailed her husband's boat and won over her rivals. Mrs. Aldrich, sailing the Sethel, was second.

In the other events the Walkerville Boat club of Walkerville, Ont., and the Buckeye Lake Yacht club of Columbus, were winners in a number of events.

Today's races will practically mark the close of the regatta.

VOTE WILL END EXTRA SESSION

Congress Will Adjourn After Important Ballots.

QUORUM CANNOT BE RETAINED

Many Senators Have Already Left Washington, and Others Are Preparing to Get Away—Many Measures, Including Bill For Campaign Publicity, Will Remain In Conference.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, July 21.—[Special].—While there is going to be a great deal of talk during the next few weeks about the extension of the session far beyond the date when a vote is to be taken on the several matters upon which an agreement was reached, it is safe to say that as soon as these matters are out of the way congress will adjourn. It will be impossible to keep a quorum here. Already many senators have left Washington, and others are preparing to get away as soon as a vote is taken on several questions which they regard as important.

As soon as President Taft vetoes the free list bill or the wool bill the Democrats of the house will have an abundant excuse for ceasing to pass tariff bills, and so an adjournment can be taken.

May Remain In Conference.

It is quite certain that a number of important measures will remain in conference. The resolution for the election of senators by direct vote seems to be one of the measures that cannot be agreed upon at this session.

If the campaign publicity bill passes it will be amended to cover primaries, and it, too, will remain in conference. The same fate may await the New Mexico and Arizona bill. The reapportionment bill, which increases the number of representatives to 433, seems to be sure to pass.

Curious Tariff Conditions.

If a man should write reams and reams of copy for an American newspaper while abroad and send it to the paper in this country it would be admitted free of duty. If he sent a dozen photographs to illustrate the article he would have to pay 25 per cent of the value of the photographs in duty. No one pretends that such a duty is needed in our scheme of revenue, but it is a protection to American photographers against European photographers.

I was curious enough to ask why American photographers needed that protection and was informed that Europeans finished their photographs better, gave better work and that Americans preferred this better work. Now, why cannot American photographers finish their work as well and give as good satisfaction as the foreigners? As John Sharp Williams says, our whole tariff system is built upon the idea that we are unable to do as good work as foreigners.

Only Bona Fide Contests.

Several times suggestions have been made that contests might be brought in districts which if successful would insure Democratic control of the house in case the presidential election should be thrown into that body. The matter has been put up to Speaker Clark.

"I want nothing but bona fide contests," said Champ. "I do not intend to stand for any contest for the sake of political advantage." And the contests have not been presented.

La Follette Consulted.

Senator Penrose and Senator La Follette have had several very tart exchanges at different times and each expressed disagreeable opinions of the other, but it was noticed that when Penrose wanted to effect an agreement to vote on various bills he consulted La Follette.

In fact, for about the first time since La Follette has become a member of the senate he has been considered a factor in arranging a senate program. He is progressing to the extent of making himself felt by the people who arrange senate business. Heretofore half a dozen men fixed all these matters, and the other senators assented.

High Speeding of Autos.

The death of Senator Gallinger's son in an automobile accident reminded a number of persons that only a short time before the New Hampshire senator severely criticised the high speed of autos. It was during a speech on good roads in the senate, and the assertion was made that the high speed of the machines did more to destroy roads than anything else. Senator Gallinger assented to this and called attention to the fact that not only the roads suffered, but that human life was endangered by the reckless manner in which automobiles were run. He suggested a speed limit.

Reed's Illustration.

Speaking of the fear expressed by merchants in small towns that they would be injured by a parcels post Senator Reed of Missouri remarked: "If these flying machines are perfected so that the farmer can run to town in fifteen or twenty minutes and bring home his purchases they will hurt the country merchant. That which will bring the farmer in closer touch with his market and his supplies must be for the betterment of the greatest number of people. Improved transportation is progress and will continue in spite of all opposition."

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HANNAH E. WAMPLER, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice. No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

SUGAR TRUST GAVE $10,000 TO G. O. P. FUND

New York, July 21.—That the sugar trust contributed $10,000 to the Republican campaign fund in 1902 because it desired Harrison elected over Grover Cleveland was the statement made on the stand this afternoon by John E. Parsons. He said that he believed that a corporation had as much right to protect itself from unpleasant legislation by contributing to campaign funds as individuals. Parsons also insisted that the fight between the sugar trust and the Arbuckle interest was still on.

UNCLE SAM'S GUN BOAT IS ON THE SPOT

Port Au Prince, Hayti, July 21.—The U. S. gunboat Petrel arrived here this afternoon and it is believed that American lives and interests at this port are safe for the time being. About 1200 men reached here today to reinforce the government troops that are defending the capital against the insurgents.

Washington, July 21.—Reports confirming the desperate situation at Hayti were received at the state department today. The department is basing its hope on saving the lives and property of Americans from destruction at the hands of the rebels on three American warships now speeding toward Hayti. Reports to the state department indicate that revolutionists are in possession of practically all the territory north of Port Au Prince and that anarchy prevails. The news of the bombardment of several cities is hourly expected.

President Simon is said to be critically ill and today a plot to assassinate him was uncovered.

VALUATION OF B. & O. DIVISION NOT CONSISTENT

Columbus, July 21.—The state tax commission has put some "financial ballast" on the railway lines connecting Columbus and Newark 32 miles. The road is owned jointly by the B. & O. and Pennsylvania and both use it. This year the tax returns of the Pennsylvania put the road in at $16,000 a mile, while the B. & O. put it in at $1,000 a mile. The commission struck by the contrast in the figures has asked the B. & O. which half of the road it owns and whether one side of the train running on the road runs more smoothly than the other. The commission will set a new valuation on the road.

EX-PRIEST

ers of the movement and gave a sensational account of the language they used in attacking the church's authority.

Wholly in his capacity as a friend and not at all as his spiritual advisor, Briarelli told his guest that if he were a loyal priest he would denounce those who were disloyal. Verdesi accordingly signed a deposition accusing Fathers Bonanni, Nicola Turle, Mario Rossi, Otorino Copa and others of Modernism. There seems no doubt that Verdesi knew how the deposition would be used and raised no objection. The priests he accused were suspended.

Later on Verdesi appears to have repented again, for he discarded his priest's robes, rejoined the Methodists in Rome and preferred a charge against his former friend of betraying the secrets of the confessional. Though it was not definitely proven, it was intimated at the trial that Verdesi's final secession from the Catholic church was the result of his failure to secure a Vatican post which he coveted.

London, July 21.—The recent failure of the Birkbeck bank has started an agitation in favor of the state's entrance into the banking business. The Birkbeck did an enormous business with small depositors and its collapse tied up $50,000,000 chiefly belonging to exactly the people who could least afford to lose it. Fifty per cent was, indeed, paid out within a few days after the institution closed its doors but even this was insufficient to prevent a large number of small bankruptcies and immense amount of suffering.

Agitators in favor of the state bank say that things of this kind should not be permitted to happen, but that they cannot be helped so long as banking remains in private hands. It is even suggested that the government take over the ruined Birkbeck, pay off its debts in full and run it in future as a public institution. This will probably not be done but the subject will certainly be taken up in Parliament soon and it is not impossible that something tangible may come of the broad proposal.

The bank of England, and other central banking institutions throughout Europe, though affiliated with the respective governments under which they operate, are nevertheless private institutions, strictly speaking. Nor are they banks with which it is possible for small depositors to do business. The English postal savings bank is not designed to facilitate commercial transactions and is therefore useless from the standpoint of business men even of the smallest type.

A great change has come over the face of political affairs in England in the past two or three weeks. Before the coronation it looked as if the House of Lords had made up its mind to yield to the Liberal demand that it surrender its veto power and become a mere consultative body with the right to delay, but not finally to reject bills passed by the House of Commons. Today there are many indications that the peers have decided to fight. If they do fight, the engagement promises to be something terrific.

The veto bill reached the Lords, after its passage in the lower house, just before the recess for the coronation holidays. Immediately following the re-assembling of parliament, Lord Lansdowne and other peers offered certain amendments to the bill. These amendments are still under discussion, but the more important of them seem certain of adoption. Their essential feature is that, instead of giving the House of Commons the last voice on legislation, bills which it passes and which the Lords reject must be submitted to a popular referendum in their concern such matters as Irish home rule or "any other grave matter upon which the electorate has not been sufficiently consulted."

The referendum proposition looks fair at first sight, but the real idea is that when both houses are Conservative there will never be any referendum because there will never be any differences of opinion between them, whereas legislation by a Liberal House of Commons will always be held up by the Conservative House of Lords, rendering any Liberal administration one long series of expensive referendum after referendum and delay after delay. The result will not only be to give the Conservatives two chances on all bills to the Liberals' one, but it will give all Liberal administrations an appearance of continual turmoil and conflict, while the Conservative ones will invariably move as smoothly as if greased.

The Commons will therefore assuredly reject the amended veto bill. The Lords, it appears now will refuse to pass it in its original form. It will be Premier Asquith's cue to ask King George to create enough new Liberal peers to outvote the Conservatives in the present House of Lords. There has been much speculation as to what the King would do in such a case.

Now, King George is well known to be a Conservative at heart. He would, probably nevertheless, yield to the Liberals' demand for the new peers if he considered resistance hopeless. There are indications, however, that he has recently been convinced that it would not be hopeless, though there can be no question that it must be dangerous.

The coronation ceremony brought to London for the first time in several years a full attendance of the peers. They came to London to take part in the ceremonies but during the intervals they were far more seriously occupied than this. In the absence of any clear lead from the men at the head of their order the rank and file took the opportunity to form their own policy. From all quarters come indications that they made up their minds to fight.

There is no doubt that the coronation encouraged them. They took their parts in it very seriously. They believe that their appearance in Westminster Abbey, robed and coroneted, impressed the people immensely. Indeed, many of them seized the chance to show themselves in the streets in full regalia in the hope of heightening this supposedly good impression upon the masses. They are convinced that their popularity has been revived. They regard the coronation as a great electioneering asset. It has made the people, they think, at least temporarily enthusiastic for the aristocracy and the King. They seriously hold the view that, if they can force an election in a few weeks, the coronation would insure a conservative victory.

If the King refuses the Liberals' demand for new peers such an election must follow immediately. It must be borne in mind that the peers have the right of access to the King. It is certain that they are exercising this right and that great pressure is being brought upon the throne to refuse the Liberals' demand. With his sympathy already on the side of the Conservatives and all these assurances being poured into his ears that he and the aristocracy can win if he stands firm, it would be strange if he did not incline to take the peers' view. At any rate, it is the popular opinion in political circles—Liberal and Conservatives alike—that he does take their view.

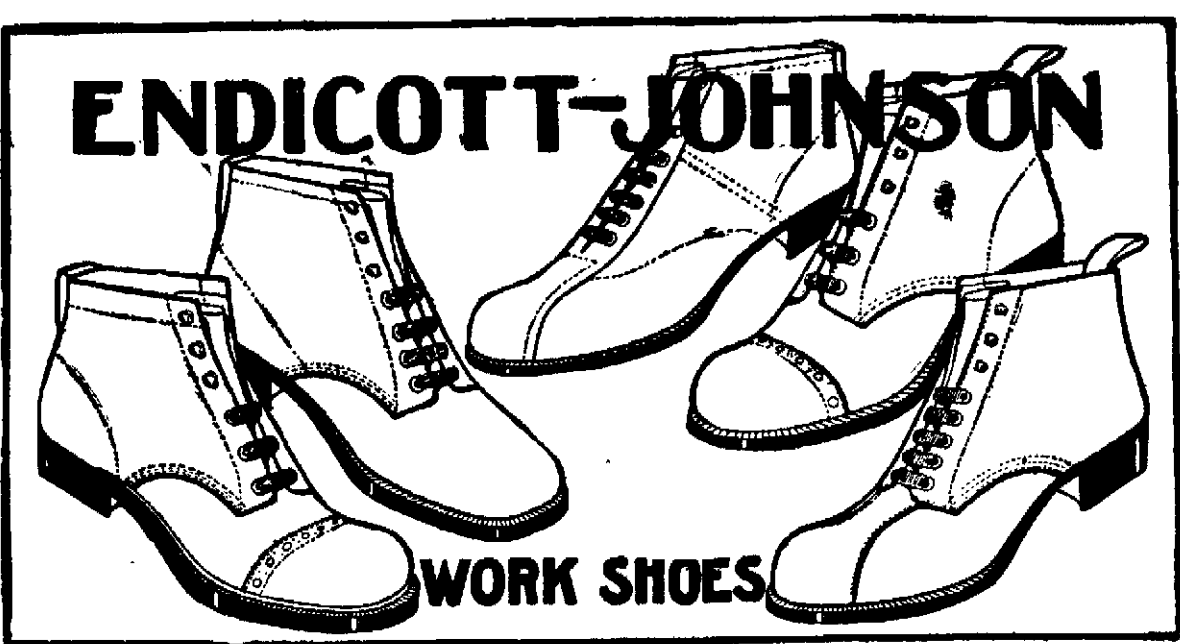

The new peers being refused, Premier Asquith and his Liberal ministry will have to resign, and there must be a fresh election, perhaps after a few days' administration by Arthur J. Balfour, the Conservative leader, who can, however, last but the shortest possible time with the Liberal majority against him in the Commons.

The next election, if one comes under such circumstances, will be the fiercest ever fought in England. It will be surprising if it passes without bloodshed.

Judge Tells Why Men Go Bankrupt

"After all, it is not strange," says a judge who presides in many bankruptcy cases, "that the ordinary type of bankrupt exhibits in his face and general condition a woeful lack of strength and mental concentration. I believe the cause of their failure is lack of that vitality and combative nerve-strength so absolutely necessary to keep a man up and doing." Nerves are all that make you, whether you are a man, woman or child. The most powerful nerve vitalizer and blood purifier is without doubt Make-Man Tablets. They are wonder-workers and absolutely safe for thin-blooded and nervous men, women and children. Trial treatment sent free on request by Make-Man Tablet Co., Dept. 12, Chicago.

If you feel "all in," are despondent, nervous, can't sleep, get kidney or liver trouble, or rheumatism, it's Make-Man Tablets you need. Sold at 50c, and recommended by Evans Drug Store, Warden Hotel Block.

Trust Taxes Workingman's Shoes

Leather Trust Cuts Quality—Four Profits Force High Price

If there is any man in this country who ought to get good, honest shoes at an honest price it is the workingman.

Yet what happens when he buys the average shoe for himself or his family?

Instead of a shoe that protects his feet properly for the work he has to do—he gets a poor, weak thing that breaks down, cracks and leaks, loses its fit and comfort.

Adulterated Leather in Trust-Made Work-Shoes

The shoe goes back on him because the leather is weak—tanned by a cheap, hasty "process" by the Leather Trust—"weighted" with adulterants to swell the profits of the Trust.

For those low-grade shoes he pays an outrageously high price—because the Leather Trust fixes the price of the leather to suit itself—and because the shoes carry four needless profits—

Profits to the Hide Trust, the Leather Trust, the Leather Jobber and the Shoe Jobber.

The Only Work-Shoes Independent of the Leather Trust

Why doesn't the shoe manufacturer buy good leather?

Man alive, he can't! The Trust controls the tanning industry of America. The ordinary manufacturer has got to take Trust-tanned leather or shut his factory down.

There is only one shoe factory in this country that is independent of the Leather Trust. That concern is Endicott, Johnson & Co., and they make the most dependable, sturdy work-shoes in the United States.

Shoes for the farmer, for the miner, for the bricklayer, for the teamster—for all heavy work and wet work outdoors and indoors.

They get good, old-fashioned leather because they tan it themselves in their own tanneries. They are the only shoemakers in the world who tan every pound of leather they put into their shoes.

Wonderful Endicott-Johnson Leather

Endicott-Johnson Work-Shoes are made of leather tanned and finished expressly for work-shoe purposes—

Chrome-tanned upper leather, heavy, tough and strong, but pliable and soft—so that the shoe will wear a long time, be easy to the feet and give them ample protection.

"Kromelk" soles (chrome tanned), the most durable sole leather ever produced—proof against weather and heat, and all but proof against wear.

Remember this "Kromelk" sole leather. It is the first and only perfect chrome-tanned sole leather in the world. Nobody but Endicott, Johnson & Co. can produce it—though the Leather Trust has tried.

Work-Shoes Honest All Through

Endicott-Johnson Work-Shoes are solid leather shoes—no "filler" or shoddy or pasteboard inside. Just good, honest Endicott-Johnson leather through and through.

They are handsome shoes—good lines and good style, because they are designed by the same men who design the Endicott-Johnson dress shoes that sell for twice the money.

And they are finished just as carefully too, inside and out. Endicott-Johnson shoemakers do not know how to make a poor shoe.

Now you would naturally suppose that shoes made out of this extra-grade leather, with such style and finish, would cost you more than the ordinary Trust-made shoes.

As a matter of fact Endicott-Johnson shoes come to you cheaper than any shoe of the same general type you ever wore.

How Price Is Kept Down

Endicott, Johnson & Co. make good leather in their own tanneries at rock-bottom cost, remember.

Endicott-Johnson shoes pay no profits to Trusts or Middlemen. They carry no exorbitant retail profits. Endicott, Johnson & Co. sell direct to your local shoe dealer who is willing to make his money by a fair margin on many sales—rather than a big profit on a smaller volume of business.

Endicott-Johnson Work-Shoes are made in several grades, selling at $2.00 to $3.50 a pair. You can have your choice of numerous shapes and styles, and a full range of sizes.

Other Endicott-Johnson Shoes

You can get other Endicott-Johnson lines—shoes for men and women, for boys and girls. The popular dress and business shoe is the ENDWELL (Goodyear Welt)—selling at $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

Go to the Endicott-Johnson dealer in this town, and look over his stock. Remember the name of the makers—

B. F. BALZER GETS GOOD APPOINTMENT

The many friends in Newark and elsewhere will be pleased to learn that Bernard F. Balzer, who for some time filled the position of sanitary officer in Newark and who performed the duties of that office most efficiently, has been appointed deputy shop inspector under the administration of Governor Harmon. This is a most responsible position, requiring considerable knowledge of shop conditions and men employed therein. Mr. Balzer for a number of years was employed at the American Bottle plant in this city as a 2nd foreman, and is very popular among all glass workers. He has already got down to the practical duties of his office, and that he will make good goes without the saying.

TRESTLE HIT BY LIGHTNING?

It was reported about the streets today that the large trestle used by the O. & N. Electric Railway company near Zanesville had been hit by lightning during the electrical storm on Thursday evening. The rumor had it that the trestle was partially destroyed by the fire resulting from the work of the lightning.

However, inquiry at the local offices of the railway company developed the fact that the story was without foundation and that the company suffered no loss of any kind from the storm.

EXPERT

On Trusts Testifying Before Sugar Trust Probers Says Government Must Keep Hands Off

New York, July 21.—The sooner politicians realize that in their effort to prevent combinations of capital they are increasing the prices of all commodities and that the public alone must be the sufferer the better it will be for this country," insisted John E. Parsons, former chief counsel for the sugar trust in the Hardwick investigation committee today.

"Capitalization and the actual physical valuation of properties is a joke," said Parsons. "The future must be capitalized and the government must keep its hands off." The committee stated that they recognized in Parsons the greatest expert on trusts in the country. Parsons launched into a complete defense of trust methods and insisted that were it not for combinations prices of all commodities would be much higher.

TREASURER'S COLLECTIONS VERY LARGE

Collections at the county treasurer's office have been booming of late. The collection closes on the 25th of July, and as a consequence there has been a rush to pay. There has not been a fine during the past week or two that all the clerks were not busy, and sometimes there has been a long line of people stretching from the windows out into the hall waiting to hand over their tax money. It is always so in the rush of the last few days. The collections on Thursday amounted to nearly $15,000. The largest collection taken in on any one day was close to $20,000. On June 19 and 20 the collections amounted to $15,000 and $16,000 respectively.

voiled like a wraith at the wedding feast and from her dark rear pew of the little church in Manchester, inspired a dread fear that the bans would be forbidden.

The police today named Beulah Binford as the woman.

Under yesterday's sweating police declared the "other woman" admitted that she was the mother of Beattie's dead son born July 24, 1909, and that she has been lately paid money by the son of the south to stay away from Richmond. She returned three weeks ago and on at least two occasions just prior to the killing of Mrs. Beattie, she was seen, according to the chief of police, Louis Werner in the automobile of Beattie, which carried the latter's wife to her death.

Detective Scherer who has led the scattered chase for Mrs. Beattie's slayer, deemed the other woman the main spring of the case. He spirited her away last night to have her on hand as the leading witness at today's inquest and confront her with Beattie. In her he professes to see the motive for the killing.

Point out that she left town shortly before Beattie's wedding, that she returned for a short time to witness that event, and she returned the last time just after the birth of the five weeks old infant that last night sobbed itself to sleep longing with a baby yearning for his murdered mother.

Today the police bent all their efforts toward proving the ownership of the shotgun found in the road leading from the scene of the tragedy to the Beattie home. Upon this clue the police realize they must base their ultimate solution of the mystery.

The commonwealth attorney of Chesterfield county declared today that he expected the inquest to bring forth evidence enough to warrant an immediate arrest and a subsequent indictment.

Beattie appeared at the inquest seemingly at ease but smoked cigarettes with nervous haste. Because of the heat and the crowd of a hundred morbid curious spectators the inquest was held on the front veranda of the coroner's home, where all might witness the proceedings.

Beattie was the first witness called, but before he started his testimony his attorney interrupted the proceedings to declare "It is useless to deny at this time that Mr. Beattie is under suspicion and I have directed him to answer all questions freely."

The witness then repeated the story he had previously told to the police of the shooting of his wife on the dark road while they were in the automobile and of his grappling with the unknown assailant.
